U. S. And Swedish Observers Are Rushed To Syrian Frontier

CHARGES MADE BY BOTH SIDES TODAY

(BULLETIN)
WASHINGTON, June 12.—(INS)—The United States today sent three patrol ships and three airplanes to assist in the observation and enforcement of the four-week Arab-Jewish truce.

Count Folke Bernadotte, U. N. mediator in the Holy Land war, formally requested United States assistance. Announcement of compliance was made today by the state department.

CAIRO, June 12.—(INS)—United States and Swedish military observers rushed today to the Syrian frontier to investigate reports of continued violation of the truce agreement.

Dispatches from Haifa said that Swedish Colonel Erik Delaval is flying to Damascus to investigate from the Syrian side reports of unchecked warfare.

At the same time several U. S. observers were reported traveling overland from Haifa to investigate an Israeli claim that Arabs attacked the settlement of Ein Gev, on the eastern shores of the Sea of Galilee, not far from the Syrian frontier.

Counter-Charges
The first U. N. efforts to halt fighting since the cease-fire took effect came as Jews and Arabs charged each other with violations of the agreement. Major battles, however, appeared to have been halted.

U. N. mediator Count Bernadotte ordered investigation of charges made by both sides.

U. S. sources, however, appeared satisfied with the effectiveness of the truce, and emphasized that some violations are to be expected until observers have been stationed in all battle areas.

Bernadotte in Jerusalem
Count Bernadotte himself was visiting in Jerusalem today to observe at first hand the effectiveness of the truce and to confer with Jewish and Arab officials. He was preparing to fly to the Island of Rhodes, for the all important efforts to turn the truce into a permanent peace. There he will endeavor to get the Jews and Arabs into direct negotiations.

The Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram said that Arab states will form a joint delegation to negotiate with Count Bernadotte but will "refuse to sit at the round table with the Zionists." A conference of Arab plenipotentiaries, summoned to meet Monday in Cairo, presumably will select (Continued on Page Two)

Thaddeus Stevens School Reunion Draws Big Crowd

Twentieth Annual Reunion Takes Place On Friday At Cascade Park

Calico dresses, pig tails and a host of other memories were revived on Friday afternoon and evening when the Thaddeus Stevens school alumni association and their families, numbering 500 got together at Cascade Park for the twentieth annual reunion of the association.

With ideal weather conditions on hand, the youngsters of yesterday began assembling in the park at an early afternoon hour, with most of the group on hand late in the evening when the fun making and frolicking came to a close.

The committee in charge of the affair, directed by president, William Druschel, had everything under control the entire afternoon and evening with contests, games and other surprises popping in almost every corner of the Park grounds. The fun and merrymaking was interrupted long enough to let the former students have time out to eat midway in the period of festivities. The large assemblage sat down to a bountifully prepared meal with plenty of food for all, even for those who forgot to bring their basket.

Drawings and contests kept everyone busy with the outstanding feature of the entire period being a "truth or consequences" show conducted by Paul McGaffie and his aides literally rolling the contestants and witnesses in the aisles of the open air pavilion where the show was conducted. One of the other outstanding features was the guessing of the mystery person who turned out to be John Reynolds of the class of 1898 and who strangely was identified by his own wife Mrs. Mary E. Reynolds, who did not know before hand that it was her husband. They were awarded a musical powder box.

Contest Winners
Winners of the other events are as follows:
Best prize drawing, Miss Myrna Kelly; drawing, Mildred Kelly; match box race, Miss Gladys King; women's shoe contest, Mrs. Ruth Lennigling; egg contest, Paul Lombardo Jr. and Ed. Kelly; shoe lacing race, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Leslie; beauty contest, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Davis; largest family, Mrs. Kelly.

NEW LEGAL BATTLE ON MINE PENSION PLAN TO DEVELOP

tended that benefits have been "imprudently" paid by the 1946 fund to which the operators were not a party; that assumption of its obligations would bankrupt the 1947 fund financed by a 10-cents a ton royalty on coal.

Alternate Proposal
The operators' trustee submitted an alternative proposal embracing the mine owners' 1948 contract offer but this was rejected by a two-to-one vote with Lewis and Bridges voting together against Van Horn.

Van Horn called Lewis' victory "a paper transaction." He said: "A law suit will be filed in the next couple of days to attack what we deem to be an illegal action and to protect the trust fund and see to it that the funds are handled in a legal manner."

I will be Van Horn's second appeal to a federal court to block actions voted by Lewis and Bridges over his objections. On April 12, Lewis and Bridges approved a $100-a-month pension plan for miners aged 62 with 20 years service in the industry to end a month-long pension strike.

Van Horn has attacked the pension agreement in a suit which will be heard a week from today by federal judge T. Alan Goldsborough.

Four days of bargaining this week and a new 1948 mine agreement have made no headway. Lewis demanded activation of the 1947 welfare fund as a condition precedent to discussion of a new contract. Operators rejected his terms.

Traffic Changes Are Recommended

G.N.C.A. Directors Propose Changes In Message To City Council

Recommending traffic changes in down town New Castle, to relieve congestion, the directors of the Greater New Castle Association sent to council a recommendation for a bond issue of $250,000 and specific street improvements. The improvements include, the following:

1. The establishing and ordaining of a traffic by-pass from east to west, and the opening and grading thereof as soon as possible.

2. The widening of Grant street from the bridge to Sampson street, and the widening of Sampson street northwardly for at least 500 feet.

3. The widening of Moravia street from George street to the vicinity of Home street, and from the Big Run bridge to the viaduct.

Urge Bond Issue
To facilitate the above program, the Board of Directors of the Association urgently recommend to the Municipal Council that that body immediately initiate the proper steps to float a bond issue of not less than two hundred and fifty thousand ($250,000) dollars to perfect the engineering and execution of the plan, and, if necessary, secure engineering assistance, or temporarily augment the engineering personnel of the city.

The recommendation was presented to the directors by S. H. Rhoads, chairman of the Planning commission of the GNCA. The resolution recites the need for a re-routing of traffic through the city and states that a study has been made of the needs. The recommendations above follow.

that military and civilian freight traffic between Berlin and the western zones be reopened at once.

A Soviet spokesman said that this could "not be allowed until further notice" because of "traffic congestion."

The British yesterday halted issuance of passes for inter-zonal traffic by Germans because of existing Soviet restrictions.

U. S. Commander Gen. Lucius D. Clay confirmed the total stoppage, regarded in some quarters as a new Soviet attempt to force Allied withdrawal from Berlin. He said the United States had received no advance notice.

No United States military freight trains are involved at present.

McGRATH-BISHOP EVENING WEDDING

Low bowls of gardenias and tall vases of white delphinium against a background of cymbodium ferns and palms banked the altar of the First U. P. church for a lovely summer wedding Friday evening at 7:30 when Miss Alys Jane McGrath, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. McGrath, of 139 Euclid avenue, and Kenneth Earl Bishop, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bishop, of 804 Spruce street, were united in marriage.

White candles in candelabra at either side lighted the altar for the exchange of vows at a double ring ceremony with Rev. Owen W. Shields, pastor of Croton Methodist church, officiating in the presence of a number of guests.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white marquisette frosted in white in an all-over flower design, fashioned with an off-the-shoulder yoke of marquisette, long sleeves, and a medium train on the skirt. Her illusion veil fell from a headband of gardenias and she carried a white prayer book with a marker of white orchids and ribbon streamers knotted with staphenotis. She wore a single strand of pearls, gift of the groom.

As her maid of honor, her twin sister, Miss Edys Elaine McGrath, wore a bustle back gown of pale blue frosted marquisette with short sleeves, carried an arm bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and wore a headress of the same roses.

Robert D. Bishop served his brother as best man and ushers were Charles E. McGrath, Jr., and Walter S. Dance.

At the organ Mrs. John F. Love played a half-hour recital of nuptial music preceding and during the ceremony.

Immediately following the ceremony there was a reception for 100 guests in the church dining room where vases of white flowers throughout the room formed the setting. Centering the long tables was the wedding cake and down the length were bowls of gardenias surrounded by greenery and white candles.

Mrs. Herman Kitchen and Mrs. Thomas Rouser poured at the tea table and aides were Miss Betty Hamm, Miss Joan Polley, Miss Donna Warnock, and Mrs. James Gillilan.

Mr. and Mrs. Bishop left on a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination and upon their return will be at home in an apartment at 32 North Mill street after June 20.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. Ostroicher, INS Foreign Director

A disappointment for any mythologically-minded members of Count Folke Bernadotte's Palestine truce commission staff seemed likely as he planned to move over to the ancient Aegean island of Rhodes for round-table peace talks. It has nothing whatever to do with the present crucial situation in the Holy Land.

But the fact remains that anyone who cherishes a childhood image of the harbor is going to find out that this is largely a myth dating far back into Medieval Times.

Count Bernadotte's choice of Rhodes for his delicate neutral deliberations on behalf of the United Nations recalled the long history of that island, which is the easternmost of a group known as the Sporades.

It has known great wealth and it has known pillage, just the same as every square inch and every nautical mile of the Mediterranean.

But to most people of the western world it is personified best by the enormous figure of a man, feet braced on the sand at each side of the harbor, white-winged ships of commerce sailing blithely through his gigantic legs.

To satisfy curiosity a check was made with standard reference books and the Metropolitan Museum of Art with more or less fragmentary results.

One definite factor emerged. All authorities are absolutely convinced that it is "fantastically impossible" even to think of a statue having been built large enough to straddle any of Rhodes' few harbors and modern archeologists never have been able to establish even where it stood.

There is no question, of course, that an enormous statue probably about 100 feet high was erected on the island to the Sun God Helios to symbolize Rhodes' power and glory.

The date has been set between 292 B. C. and 288 B. C. Inconceivable records show that the Colossus was toppled by an earthquake in 220 B. C.

Writings of the times show that pieces of the huge bronze statue lay where they fell for several centuries until the Saracens came on conquest in the year 658. The victors, sold the pieces as scrap metal to a junk dealer who must

Here we have been going along nicely minding our own business, our business of buying and selling and making things, of plumbing and carpentering and what not.

But suddenly we have become a nation of psychologists and biologists—and all because of a book entitled "Sexual Behavior in the Human Male."

Sees Parallels To 1920 Convention

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Five months before the Republicans met for their convention in 1920 a political prophecy came from one of the party's shrewd political fixers. He said:

"We are not bothering about primaries and delegations. At two in the morning before the nomination, half a dozen men will meet in a room, go over the candidates who have been eliminated, and then and there Senator Harding will be nominated."

It happened in just that way in a smoke-filled room in Chicago's Blackstone hotel, and that has become the prototype of all smoke-filled hotel rooms. The prophet was Harry M. Daugherty, who was to become attorney general in the cabinet of Warren G. Harding and go down to disgrace with the spoliemen and corruptionists of that tragic era.

Parallels Are Seen
 The parallels between 1920 and 1948 are too striking to be ignored. Then, too, the nation was weary in the wake of a great war. Then, too, prices were soaring and the average American had little time for politics as he struggled to pay the rent and the grocery bill.

In 1920, as in 1948, the GOP had able men who had campaigned intensively for the presidency. These men had impressed their views and their personalities on the public. The three leading contenders in that other June were General Leonard Wood, Gov. Frank O. Lowden and Senator Hiram Johnson of California.

These three contestants were deadlocked on the first ballot. The vote was Wood 287½, Lowden 211½, and Johnson 133½. The deadlock went on for three days until half a dozen men met to agree on Harding. The compact was signed and sealed shortly after midnight and the following morning Harding was nominated.

Leading Contenders
 This time, at Philadelphia, the leading contenders are Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Senator Robert A. Taft and Harold Stassen. On the first ballot Dewey's strength is estimated at 300 to 325, Taft's at 250 to 275, and Stassen's at 150 to 175.

Thus the same kind of deadlock will develop as developed 28 years ago. In Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg the party has a compromise candidate of stature and great national prestige.

But also within the party are powerful forces seeking to install in the White House another Harding. There was nothing wicked or sinister about the bland, pleasure-loving senator from Ohio. He was merely a willing party hack, ready to be pushed around by stronger men who knew what they wanted out of the Federal government. He had little understanding of his country or its place in the world. In the Republican stable today are dark horses on the Harding model.

Atmosphere Of 1920
 The atmosphere of 1920, as described by Karl Schriftgiesser in his just published "This Was Normalcy," was one of grab-while-the-grabbing-is-good. At the Chicago convention in 1920 a swarm of favor-seekers, many of them representing great wealth, pressed down on the delegates.

Something like that atmosphere has oppressed the Republican Congress as greedy lobbyists push for the benefits they seem to feel are certain to come from the GOP. And at times Republican officialdom encourages that attitude.

In the current issue of the Republican News, official paper of the Republican National committee, is a remarkable appeal captioned: "Don't throw peanuts to the elephant." It gives a table showing tax savings under the tax cut put through the GOP Congress, with the taxpayer who earns $2500 saving $78.40, and the taxpayer who earns $5000 saving $753.31. The appeal says: "Take a look at the table below. (Continued on Page Nine)"

SEATTLE—President Truman: "If Congress adjourns without passing legislation to control prices, to aid labor, and to provide adequate housing it would be a disgrace to this country . . . a majority of Republican congressmen are going to Philadelphia in a few days to tell you what a great Congress they have been."

WASHINGTON—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers: "The mine operators are obviously killing time trying to create a crisis. The industry's 'stay on the job' suggestion would not be satisfactory to the men who go down into the mines to dig coal."

NEW YORK—Gov. Earl Warren (R) Cal.: "I am disappointed because Congress has not enacted universal military training. UMT offers us a permanent defense, and selective service only a temporary one. Defense is a permanent problem."

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Paul G. Hoffman, ERP administrator: "The proposed cuts in the European aid funds will slow down the program, hamper peace and cause great damage . . . there is a great sense of urgency in getting on with the job."

BIBLE THOUGHT
 Speak not evil one of another brethren. He that speaketh evil of his brother, and judgeth his brother, speaketh evil of the law, and judgeth the law, but if thou judge the law, thou art not a doer of the law, but a judge. There is one law-giver, who is able to save and to destroy: who art thou that judgest another?

—James 4:11, 12.

Credentials Committees Are Key
 WASHINGTON, June 12.—In any such fight as has now developed among both the Democrats and Republicans it would be a mistake to leave out of consideration the extraordinary power of the credentials committees in the national conventions. More than once in the history of both parties its action has determined the nominee. In some ways it is more important than the resolutions committee, the chairman of which writes the platform. In naming Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, for that post, the Republicans could hardly have made a better selection.

THE function of the credentials committee is to pass upon the credentials of all the delegates chosen by the states and territories. Its head is named by the chairman of the National Committee, who also sets up a preliminary committee of one man and one woman from each state. This committee begins examination of charges and hearing of contested delegations before the convention assemblies. After the selection of the temporary chairman, also designated by the National Committee, the first work of the convention is to regularize the preliminary credentials committee. Then it creates the resolutions committee, charged with the job of framing the party platform.

THEN it considers the report of the credentials committee. In almost every case the committee's report is ratified by the convention. Until that is done the convention is simply not organized. Often there is a bitter fight in the committee and sometimes this fight is carried to the convention floor. But this is rare, and almost always the report of the committee's majority is accepted. What this means, of course, is that in the case of a contest it is the credentials committee which seats or unseats.

THE theory is that the credentials committee decides the contests that come before it strictly on their merits and after an impartial investigation of the facts. The truth is that in most cases—and in both parties—the committee's decisions are flavored by the political predilections and preferences of its chairman and the majority which he almost always controls. Few observers who ever saw a national convention in action will dispute this. It is natural and inevitable. It is expected and accepted.

THIS being the case, it is easy to understand the advantage credentials committee friendliness can give to any aspirant for the presidential nomination in a close fight. The seating of supporting delegates and the unseating of hostile ones easily may affect vital votes in the convention. Certainly it has done so on a number of occasions. Perhaps the most notable example in recent years was in the 1932 Democratic Convention at Chicago, when the late Mr. Roosevelt was first nominated. Through control of the National Committee, the Roosevelt forces were able to organize that convention, selecting the temporary and permanent chairmen and dictating the heads of the resolutions and credentials committees.

A NUMBER of contests developed before the latter, all of which were decided in favor of the Roosevelt forces. The most conspicuous was the contesting delegation from Louisiana, which challenged the late Senator Huey Long and his delegates. The decision in this case was an open scandal. The contesting delegation not only was composed of the most distinguished citizens of the State but the evidence of fraud and corruption which they presented was overwhelming and convincing. Yet, the committee seated the Long delegation. Some of those who voted with the majority came out privately saying that they were ashamed of what they had helped do, but that there was no help for it. A vote to unseat the Long delegation would have been a vote against Roosevelt which might have meant his defeat. As a matter of fact, the Long delegation was a pillar of strength to Mr. Roosevelt when the balloting began. Next to the California deal, by which Mr. Garner became the vice presidential nominee, it contributed more to the Roosevelt nomination than any other convention factor.

THERE may be no comparable contest before the credentials committees in the coming conventions but there are sure to be some. On the Republican side there will be at least one contest among the Southern States—and probably more. And, no matter where they are from nor what are the contest grounds, the odds are heavy that every contest will be decided in the time-honored way—according to the candidatorial affiliations of the chairman. To some extent the credentials committee is always a packed committee and to some extent it always has a chance to do a little packing of the convention.

USUALLY, these committees operate in executive sessions, though sometimes their hearings are open. They attract relatively little publicity, being overshadowed by the contending presidential aspirants and the various more spectacular and interesting things that go on. Nevertheless, in anything approximately close in the way of a fight, experienced men will keep their eyes on the credentials committees. What they do in their executive sessions can be significant of what the convention will do in the open. In this respect the coming conventions will be no different from preceding ones.

JOBS UPON A TIME

Congresswoman Helen Gahagan

Douglas of California gave up a most successful career as a star of the theater to become a politician. An awareness of her country's social problems and a wish to do something about them, prompted her to the move. Helen Gahagan was a prominent Broadway actress when, in 1928, she gave up that career to study voice in Italy. She sang operatic roles in Germany, Austria and Czechoslovakia, then returned to the U. S. to play the opera singer in "Tonight or Never."

Her leading man was Melvyn Douglas, whom she later married. The Douglases have two children, a son and a daughter.

Ezio Pinza, popular basso of opera, concert and radio, was born in Rome, Italy. His parents wanted him to be an engineer, but he couldn't see it and turned to professional bicycle racing. When his fellow racers heard him singing in the shower, they told him he'd better make music his career. Pinza entered the Bolzoni Conservatory of Music, and was about to make his debut when World War I broke out.

While the world is being reorganized the way we think it should be why not reorganize the calendar for the use of Iowa? Maybe two June and two October, and eliminate February and March entirely.—Knoxville, Iowa, Express.

A SPENDTHRIFT NATION

Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, in a recent address to the Senate, remarked that it would be well to remind ourselves of the road the government has traveled in the past fifteen years, "a road of multiplied appropriations, multiplied costs, multiplied personnel, multiplied bureaus, multiplied controls and multiplied handouts."

Sensor Bridges calls attention to the fact that in 1933 federal expenditures were about four and one-third billion. For 1949 the President estimates that they will approximate forty billions.

In 1933, he says, federal revenues were two billions plus. In 1949, it is estimated by the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation, they will exceed forty-seven billions.

CHILD ENJOYS SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

Eric Olson, a young friend of mine, spent last summer at the home of his grandparents on a farm. Eric is ten.

Sometimes Eric and his grandfather would work late in the garden. One evening, when it was nearly dark, Eric heard a strange sound. "What is that?" he asked. "That is a whippoorwill, his grandfather said. Then Eric heard a screech owl.

Eric stood and listened and wondered. As he went into the house he told his grandmother of what he heard. She showed him pictures of these birds and some stories about them. Every now and then Eric would go out on the porch to listen again to the whippoorwill and screech owl. After he went to bed he could still hear them.

Every morning when he awoke he could hear many birds singing. It was not long before he knew the names of many of these birds and could name them from their songs.

Often he watched a bird build its nest and feed its young. One evening he saw a toad in the garden catching insects. He watched this toad evening after evening.

One day while Eric was in the field with his grandfather, he saw a turtle crawling slowly, and when Eric was about to pick it up carefully, it pulled in its head and feet and closed its house. Eric also saw rabbits and squirrels and chipmunks and woodchucks running wild and he learned how they lived.

Strange Sound
 One evening late in the summer Eric was sitting on the porch with his grandparents, just after it had grown dark. He heard a strange loud sound down by the pond, the croaking of a bull frog. He also heard katydids and crickets chirp and many other insects making sounds. It seemed to him that there were thousands of them singing all at once.

Now and then Eric would hear from the porch the mooing of a cow, the barking of a dog, and the sound of a moving car sometimes near, sometimes far away. He liked to estimated how far away each source of sound was.

Also, Eric saw some very tiny lights that flashed and then disappeared. He could see them from any direction from the porch. He learned they were fireflies. One of these fireflies lit on Eric's hand and Eric carefully looked at it without hurting it.

Evening after evening Eric never grew tired of watching the fireflies and listening to all the sounds he could hear. The longer he remained on the farm the more often he was able to name what made the many sounds he heard. Eric so enjoyed all the creatures he heard and saw while at the farm that he felt sure he would never hurt a single one of them.

Hints On Etiquette
 In a small, informal wedding, the bridegroom and maid of honor walk first, followed by the bride and best man. The women are on the right of the men. Or, the bridegroom and best man stand at the place set for the wedding, the bridesmaids come first, then the bride on the arm of her father, brother or other male relative, just as at a formal wedding.

And on the home front today we find several people walking around wearing the official hat of the Sequi Celebration . . . it is the robin hood type . . . feather and all. Very brightly colored. It is the hope of the committee that every one will be wearing one of these hats by the 4th of July . . . they are now on sale at the Sequi Headquarters . . . located on South Mercer street across from the Bell Telephone Company main office.

So until we hear from you . . . enjoy the week-end . . . and may be you all will remember DRIVE SLOWLY . . . CHILDREN MOVE FAST.

All conversation centers around the coming 150 year celebration . . . and it's surprising how many things of interest are turning up . . . Just this week John Palko of the Palko Mirror Company called in and said he had found an old newspaper . . . dating away back . . . it is an edition of the Pittsburgh Commercial Gazette and it says that it was then in its 99th year . . . the date of the paper by the way is 1885. But it is very cheap in that paper, about 15 cents per pound . . . other items also in the same price class . . . while this paper is not a product of the county, it did prove very interesting to Mr. Palko and his employees. We thank them for calling.

Old pictures . . . photos . . . of the city and county are needed to complete the Sequi picture book . . . it's just about time to put the book to the printers so if anyone has a picture they would like to submit . . . won't they please bring it in right away.

It is hoped as we have said before . . . that a museum will be established for the week of the celebration . . . several people have called and told of interesting items that might be included in this show . . . One piece of equipment that we haven't checked as yet but which sounds very interesting is an old circus wagon . . . now parked at Frizelle's house. Several horse drawn carriages have been offered. Know of anything along this line . . . give us a buzz.

Noisy? Yes, of course they are. Little girls and little boys. In and out will race about. Manufacturers of noise. But at times when they are ill. And in bed must long remain. Feverish and, oh, so still! You will pray for noise again.

Yes, they bring their playmates in; Beg for cookies, one and all; Race the stairs and jump on chairs; Strew their toys about the hall. But if they from home should stray. Seemingly afraid of you. You would want them back to play. And you'd want their comrades, too.

Troublesome at times are they. But the happiest homes are those Filled with noise and strewn with toys.

Let me call your attention to the fact that there is nothing new about sex, and that without sex here wouldn't be any you or me or any life at all.

There isn't anything sordid or lewd about sex except in the way it is being exploited for commercial purposes.

For instance, I just read about a 18-year-old kitchen-worker in a New York hotel, whose fourth wife has just given birth to a set of triplets, and he proudly announced that they were his thirty-third, thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth children.

The man doesn't speak English very well and I doubt that he has read the Kinsey Report.

And I doubt that there is a lewd or lascivious thought in this 35-times father's head in this 35-times (Copyright, 1948, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Newport Citizens Warn 'Slow Down'

If you're a cowboy, speed demon, or belong to any of those organizations whose mottoes are, "A crackup a day gives the under-takers pay", stay away from Newport.

Pennsylvania State Highway Department two weeks ago posted a 35 mile speed limit on Route 18, through Newport, a village between New Castle and Wampum, but, say the citizens of Newport, "nobody slows down."

Some cars, but mostly steel and other freight hauling trucks, are the outstanding offenders. Route 18 through Newport is a narrow highway, and is extremely dangerous for such high speeds.

Unless drivers do slow down, this stretch of highway will be turned into a speed trap.

DR. JAMES A. GILLESPIE

What makes a man a leader in our community and our world today? Philanthropy? Fame through achievement? The lustre of public office?

Certainly these things add to the stature of a man, but many deeds go unsung, and character is molded in silence, far from the fanfare of public notice.

The story of Dr. James A. Gillespie aptly illustrates this point. There have been few men in the history of New Castle who have worked more diligently for a better city—labored more unflinchingly for the uplift of his own and other races than this dentist who this year celebrates his twenty-fifth year of practice in New Castle.

Out of all groups there arises a leader. Dr. Gillespie would be the last to admit that he is a champion or a standard-bearer. He is sincere in his dislike of personal publicity, and the progress he has made, and the mark left here has been accomplished in a quiet, unassuming manner. When a job is to be done, Dr. Gillespie is always there to shoulder his part of the burden. He would rally to any cause he believed in or thought worthy of effort. Such men as these form the still, deep waters of a city's progress—strong and able volunteers, invariably available for duty.

Dr. Gillespie was born in Bennington, Vt., and spent his early boyhood there. He attended high school and Benedict college in Columbia, S. C., and after serving in World War I, entered Howard university in Washington, D. C. He was graduated from the medical school there with the class of 1923, and settled in New Castle Nov. 1, 1924, where he hung out his dentist's shingle.

His residence here has been one of faithful duty to his people and to the community itself.

One of his most revered posts is his affiliation with the N.A.A.C.P. (National Association for the Advancement of Colored People). He is past state president of the organization and is at present a member of the New Castle executive board. He is devout in belief of the aims set forth by this group and has striven all his life to make them workable.

Other positions find him as a member of the executive board of the Lawrence County Boy Scout Council, a member of the American Cancer and Tuberculosis groups and the Y.M.C.A.

Active in "Y" Work in "Y" has occupied much of Dr. Gillespie's time. He is a staunch supporter of this worldwide organization and its branch here and through his efforts he finally saw the establishment in the city of a colored branch of the association.

Still serving as chairman of the board of the Shenango Street unit since its inception three years ago, Dr. Gillespie is rightfully proud of the achievements of this ever-growing affiliate of the "Y". Steadily increasing its membership, the branch has been an outstanding success since its organization and its record has indeed been commendable. It has become a popular site for enlarged men and boy where they can benefit physically, spiritually and culturally.

Dr. Gillespie is a member of the American Dental Association and the Lawrence County Society. He is also vice president of the Goodwill Conference.

One of his most strenuous jobs during his career here was as an administrator with the county relief organization during the worst days of the depression. The understanding and ability he lent to this post will be long remembered by many persons.

Dr. Gillespie and his wife Eleonora have two children—Alice, a student at Howard University, and James, Jr., enrolled at Penn State but taking his freshman year subjects at one of the college's "farm schools"—Shippensburg Teachers.

Head Of Board Discloses That There Are But 1,338 Cases At Present

Lawrence county assistance is at its second lowest point since the board was founded in 1937. At the present time there are 1,338 cases on the rolls of the Lawrence County Board of Assistance, and in 1944 there were 1,276 cases. These figures were given out by Austin A. Webb, chairman of the Lawrence County Board of Assistance.

There has been a 10.3% reduction in cases since 1947. The highest number of cases ever to appear before the board was in 1939, when there were 7,746 cases in Lawrence county.

The decrease in the number of cases is due to better employment conditions, and also the approaching summer season, which always lowers the number of cases.

Money spent in May for assistance to Lawrence county residents amounted to $69,804.61. The money is raised through a general fund

WASHINGTON CALLING

Many of our friends feel that, entirely apart from other important considerations, the least they can do to express their appreciation is to contribute a substantial part of their tax savings for this year to insure the re-election of the Congress which made this possible.

In the same issue, the chairman of the GOP finance committee says: "The stakes are too high to take any chance on not winning." The stakes are certainly too high to take a chance on another Harding. Harding led the nation back to isolationism and the short-sighted policies of the man around him prepared the way for boom and bust. The evil consequences came in a terrible depression and a more terrible war.

Succeeding columns will be devoted to an appraisal of the men and the issues at Philadelphia. The choice to be made there may well be as momentous as that which was made in the same city in 1787.

JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY

The Hoosier Poet sang about "the jelly, the jam and the marmalade."

Old Aunt Mary knew what boys like.

Give a boy a good chance and he will eat the right things.

Marmalade is made from oranges and lemons. It has the peel in it too. It provides both nourishment and vitamins.

Boys need lots of food. They need protein for growth. Protein comes from meat and milk and eggs and vegetables and bread.

one thousand, one hundred seventy-two per cent.

In 1933 there were five hundred seventy-two thousand federal employees. Today there are over two millions, an increase of more than five hundred per cent.

In 1933 these employees earned just short of a billion dollars in annual compensation. Today the federal payroll approximates six billions, an increase of more than five hundred per cent.

In 1933 the executive branch of the government was a relatively small and closely knit organization. As of the latest count, there are more than one thousand bureaus and more than forty-five thousand individual offices.

These figures certainly justify Senator Bridges' admonition that we should take some heed of how far we have gone and the kind of road we are traveling.

Common sense suggests that the federal government cannot go on indefinitely increasing its outlays and sustaining war-time payrolls, while sapping the tax resources of the commonwealths. It is apparent, however, that no relief can be expected of the present administration and that the only hope lies in a Republican executive as well as a Republican Congress.

Local Stamp Club Has Sesqui Cachet

Drawing Of Early Iron Furnace
Carried On Face Of Envelope
Bearing Stamp Club Cachet

News of New Castle's Sesqui-Centennial Celebration which will be celebrated July 4 through 11 will be carried to all corners of the globe through the medium of a neat cachet originated by the New Castle Stamp Club and now being distributed in the city by the club members and at the New Castle Post Office on the Public Square.

The two-tone cachet, which is eye-catching carries at the top, "New Castle Sesqui-Centennial" and imprinted within the Keystone State emblem in the same neat blue readers are "Week of July 4 to 11, 1798-1948" with these latter letters surrounding one of the old early iron furnaces which were common in the early days of the city. Underneath the brown colored picture of the furnace are the words, "Early Iron Furnace," with New Castle Stamp Club in blue letters printed at the bottom of the envelope.

It is expected that many of the envelopes will travel throughout the world and will become collectors' covers and at some future time become very valuable. The members of the club worked for some months on the project and deliberated some little time before a selection was made.

The envelopes may be used before the big celebration takes place and will further advertise the fact that New Castle is celebrating and may attract many outsiders to the city for the occasion.

At the present time, we are going through the biggest home-building boom in our history. Many veterans are moving into these homes. Gardening, including landscaping, will help to beautify their homes and their neighborhoods, and will provide recreational and nutritional advantages that go with it.

Constables May Levy To Collect Delinquent Tax

Persons who owe delinquent taxes in the near future may be visited by a constable, armed with a levy notice.

This is what Mayor John F. Haven stated today.

His Honor explained: In 1947 there was only $639.29 occupational tax paid, but since January when city police began serving notices of delinquent taxes for 1944-47 there has been paid $7,385.86.

Every person who owes delinquent taxes has been legally notified of the fact, so the way is now clear to serve levy notices, the mayor stated.

It is reported that more than $30,000 is due the city.

PROOF BY ACTUAL OWNERS OPERATING OVER SIX MONTHS

Thousands of owners—actual drivers of the glamorous 1948 KAISERS and FRAZERS—have reported these cars use less gasoline per mile, save more on oil consumption than any other car they have ever owned! This is the verdict of an impartial group of men and women who use their cars constantly—in totally different parts of the country—in city traffic as well as in the roughest kind of terrain... The Kaiser and the Frazer have both lived up to the predictions which were made for them. These beautiful cars have proved they are more than style leaders. They are ECONOMY LEADERS as well!

Drop in today and let us show you why it's smart to put your money into a Kaiser or a Frazer.

Five fire companies were called into action at 6:30 a. m. today, when a motor overheated in Rice's Pharmacy at 44 N. Mill street, bringing an alarm from box 28. Only small damage resulted, it is stated.

Five Generations Of Local Family

A family of five generations, with the exception of one family, is living in the New Castle locality. The oldest of this family is Mrs. Bertha Raney, R. D. 2, who will be 85 years old on August 6, and her youngest is little Diana Lee Stoner, Washington, D. C., who is three months old.

Mrs. Bertha Taylor Raney at the present time lives with her daughter, Mrs. Hugh Pitzer, R. D. 2. She was born in Mt. Jackson, the daughter of John A. and Nancy Taylor. Her father was a blacksmith in Mt. Jackson, and later moved to a farm on the Mt. Jackson-Petersburg road, about six miles from Mt. Jackson.

At the age of 19, Bertha Taylor married Robert Raney and moved to a farm in Little Beaver township. When her husband died in 1917, Mrs. Raney moved to New Castle to live with her daughter, Mrs. Hugh Pitzer.

Mrs. Bertha Raney is the mother of four daughters, Mrs. John Miller, Mrs. Harry Morrison, Mrs. Hugh Pitzer and Miss Naomi Raney.

WASHINGTON CALLING

Many of our friends feel that, entirely apart from other important considerations, the least they can do to express their appreciation is to contribute a substantial part of their tax savings for this year to insure the re-election of the Congress which made this possible.

In the same issue, the chairman of the GOP finance committee says: "The stakes are too high to take any chance on not winning." The stakes are certainly too high to take a chance on another Harding. Harding led the nation back to isolationism and the short-sighted policies of the men around him prepared the way for boom and bust. The evil consequences came in a terrible depression and a more terrible war.

Succeeding columns will be devoted to an appraisal of the men and the issues at Philadelphia. The choice to be made there may well be as momentous as that which was made in the same city in 1787.

JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY

The Housler Poet sang about "the jelly, the jam and the marmalade." Old Aunt Mary knew what boys like.

Give a boy a good chance and he will eat the right things. Marmalade is made from oranges and lemons. It has the peel in it too. It provides both nourishment and vitamins.

Boys need lots of food. They need protein for growth. Protein comes from meat and milk and eggs and vegetables and bread. They need starch and sugar. Starch comes from grains and vegetables. Starch makes energy to keep boys going all day.

They need minerals and vitamins. These minerals and vitamins are provided by these same foods. Vegetables, fruits, meat, eggs, milk, bread, cheese, butter, cereals and water will provide everything needed.

THE WORLD AND THE MUD PUDDLES

one thousand, one hundred seventy-two per cent.

In 1933 there were five hundred seventy-two thousand federal employees. Today there are over two millions, an increase of two hundred fifty per cent.

In 1933 these employees earned just short of a billion dollars in annual compensation. Today the federal payroll approximates six billions, an increase of more than five hundred per cent.

In 1933 the executive branch of the government was a relatively small and closely knit organization. As of the latest count, there are more than one thousand bureaus and more than forty-five thousand individual offices.

These figures certainly justify Senator Bridges' admonition that we should take some heed of how far we have gone and the kind of road we are traveling.

Common sense suggests that the federal government cannot go on indefinitely increasing its outlays and sustaining war-time payrolls, while sapping the tax resources of the commonwealths. It is apparent, however, that no relief can be expected of the present administration and that the only hope lies in a Republican Executive as well as a Republican Congress.

Perry Lee Reher Receives Law Degree

Perry is a veteran of World War II, with the eighth air force as a cryptographer. He is married and resides in Oakmont, and will later come to New Castle to reside.

ECKERT'S BRIDGE OVER SLIPPERY ROCK CREEK

In the picturesque Slippery Rock creek valley is probably the longest remaining covered bridge in the county. Known as the Eckert's bridge, it spans the Slippery Rock creek slightly over a mile downstream from the McConnell's Mill bridge. It was erected in 1852 and is still in a fine state of preservation.

To reach the bridge, visitors will find it easiest to travel via the village of Princeton on route 422. Shortly beyond the village is a fork in the road, with the macadam road continuing on to the right and a dirt road leading to McConnell's Mill on the left. Follow the improved road, the visitor passes through many farmlands of the area and then proceeds into a deep gorge. Nestled in the valley at the bottom of the gorge is Eckert's bridge. It is approximately one and three-tenths miles from the fork in the road to the bridge. This is the fifth of a series of articles on the covered bridges of

Local Stamp Club Has Sesqui Cachet

Drawing Of Early Iron Furnace
Carried On Face On Envelope
Bearing Stamp Club Cachet

News of New Castle's Sesqui-Centennial Celebration which will be celebrated July 4 through 11 will be carried to all corners of the globe through the medium of a neat cachet, originated by the New Castle Stamp Club and now being distributed in the city by the club members and at the New Castle Post Office on the Public Square.

The two-tone cachet, which is eye-catching carries at the top, "New Castle Sesqui-Centennial" and imprinted within the Keystone State emblem in the same neat blue readers are of July 4 to 11, 1798-1948" with these latter letters surrounding one of the old early iron furnaces which were common in the early days of the city. Underneath the brown colored picture of the furnace are the words "Early Iron Furnace," with New Castle Stamp Club in blue letters printed at the bottom of the envelope.

It is expected that many of the envelopes will travel throughout the world and will become collectors' covers and at some future time become very valuable. The members of the club worked for some months on the project and deliberated some little time before a selection was made.

The envelopes may be used before the big celebration takes place and will further advertise the fact that New Castle is celebrating and may attract many outsiders to the city for the occasion.

At the present time, we are going through the biggest home-building boom in our history. Many veterans are moving into these homes. Gardening, including landscaping, will help to beautify their homes and their neighborhoods, and will provide recreational and nutritional advantages that go with it.

The best exercise for reducing, says a health authority, is to move the head from side to side when offered a second helping.

Constables May Levy To Collect Delinquent Tax

Persons who owe delinquent taxes in the near future may be visited by a constable, armed with a levy notice.

This is what Mayor John F. Haven stated today.

His Honor explained: In 1947 there was only $639.29 occupational tax paid, but since January when city police began serving notices of delinquent taxes for 1944-47 there has been paid $7,385.86.

Every person who owes delinquent taxes has been legally notified of the fact, so the way is now clear to serve levy notices, the mayor stated.

It is reported that more than $30,000 is due the city.

THE MOTOR TRUCK FAMILY IS A REALLY LARGE ONE

When you think of an industry you think of some single corporation employing thousands of men and women. One employing 100,000 men and women is large, and one employing half a million is huge.

But what about an industry employing 5,000,000 people? Huge?

Sure it is and that's just about the number of employees in the motor truck industry.

When you think of the motor truck industry you visualize an outfit employing 100, maybe 300 men and women. But that's just a unit of the industry.

The total is just about five million people whose salaries and wages come from the motor truck industry in the United States.

COVERED BRIDGES OF LAWRENCE CO.
 (Fifth in a Series)

HECKERT'S BRIDGE OVER SLIPPERY ROCK CREEK

In the picturesque Slippery Rock creek valley is probably the longest remaining covered bridge in the county. Known as the Heckert's bridge, it spans the Slippery Rock creek slightly over a mile downstream from the McConnell's Mill bridge. It was erected in 1852 and is still in a fine state of preservation.

To reach the bridge, visitors will find it easiest to travel via the village of Princeton on route 422. Shortly beyond the village is a fork in the road, with the macadam road continuing on to the right and a dirt road leading to McConnell's Mill on the left. Follow the improved road, the visitor passes through many farmlands of the area and then proceeds into a deep gorge. Nestled in the valley at the bottom of the gorge is Heckert's bridge. It is approximately one and three-tenths miles from the fork in the road to the bridge.

This is the fifth of a series of articles on the covered bridges of Lawrence county appearing in conjunction with the coming Sesqui-centennial celebration to emphasize points of interest.

Creeks and small non-navigable rivers are the property of the owners of the land through which they flow.

THE MOTOR TRUCK FAMILY IS A REALLY LARGE ONE

When you think of an industry you think of some single corporation employing thousands of men and women. One employing 100,000 men and women is large, and one employing half a million is huge.

But what about an industry employing 5,000,000 people? Huge? Sure it is and that's just about the number of employees in the motor truck industry.

When you think of the motor truck industry you visualize an outfit employing 100, maybe 300 men and women. But that's just a unit of the industry.

The total is just about five million people whose salaries and wages come from the motor truck industry in the United States.

Match Race At Canfield Track

CANFIELD, O., June 12.—Jack Kabat, Cleveland Midget Racing Star will return to the A.A.A. fold at Canfield tonight. Kabat this week stopped the flying Pratt, and promises to be on of the outstanding stars of the 1948 season.

In addition to the regular 8 event program, a special match race will be held between Ralph Pratt, Kansas City; Iggy Katona, Milan, Mich.; and Carl Forberg, Omaha. This race will be run in single file order with Carl Forberg on the pole; Iggy Katona in second spot, and Ralph Pratt in third position. It promises to be very exciting. Each driver is confident of victory.

Canfield operates on Daylight Savings Time with gates to the Speedway opening at 6:30; time trials at 7:00 and the first event at 9:00.

Sherm Fogg, former University of Wisconsin athlete, is starting his second year as tennis coach at Penn State.

SPORT SHORTS

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 12.—(INS)—A couple of new collegiate Olympic prospects loomed on the nation's track and field horizons today following last night's 23rd annual Central Collegiate Conference meet at Marquette.

The boys to watch are Jim Holland, Northwestern, and Paul Blenz, Tulane, who provided a pair of standout performances, despite the fact that the team title went to Illinois.

Holland leaped 25 feet 1-2 inch to win the broad jump. It was his best performance of the season and one of the standout marks of the year.

Blenz, a barrel-chested sprinter who runs with his head cocked to one side, took the 100-yard dash in :9.8 and the 220 in :21.8—two figures which haven't been beaten anywhere this year except on the Pacific coast.

NEW YORK, June 12.—(INS)—The third and final jewel of the triple crown is scheduled today to be placed on the brow of Citation, the Calumet Farm's famous three-year-old sensation.

Citation is a 1 to 10 favorite to capture the Belmont Stakes at a mile and a half.

Calumet, the speed boy of the Calumet outfit, is coupled with Citation. However, this colt probably will not start, and if he does, he probably will have laid it a day before the stretch is reached. He has not been trained for the race.

Steelers Need One More Coach

PITTSBURGH, June 12.—(INS)—The Pittsburgh Steelers are only one step away from a coaching staff completely composed of former University of Pittsburgh football stars today.

The signing of Harvey Rooker as end coach last night made a total of four Pitt alumni who will handle the Steelers in their National professional season next fall.

The others are head coach Johnny Michelosen, line coach Ken Ormiston, and backfield coach Mike Nixon. A fourth assistant still is to be hired.

Rooker formerly coached at Davis Elkins College, Elkins, W. Va. Prior to that he was high school coach at Conemaugh and Lancaster, Pa.

Yes It's A Wonderful H & W Strapless Bra

$2.50

H & W really proved to us that the bust could be correctly supported . . . without any metal contrivance at all! The sewed-in, efficient, feather-weight-support used here is the real answer. This is indeed a strapless bra that molds and upholds the bust, without yielding. White and Black. Sizes 32 to 38.

Around Hollywood

By RUTH BRIGHAM
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, June 12.—You can believe those reports you hear about Lilli Palmer and Rex Harrison getting ready for the break, despite vehement denials by the pair. How come? For one thing, a certain fan mag has looked into the situation and decided to put off a love-dovey story of the couple. They don't want another Susan Peters-Richard Quine repeat. And for another thing, Miss Palmer and Harrison have repeatedly refused to be photographed a duet at home.

LARRAINE TEMPERAMENTAL
Shooting on one of the most tension-heavy movies to come out of Hollywood in a long time—"My Dear Secretary"—ended Wednesday on a note of tension. Larraine Day was temperamental up to the last, giving the studio a deadline of 1:30 P. M. Wednesday to complete still shots, despite the fact that one of the leads had an interview at one o'clock that day. But good-natured Kirk Douglas laughed it off, rushed back to the studio, and made a date with Larraine to vacate, and Douglas perform in New York at the first free moment.

Both stars left Hollywood Wednesday night for the big city—Larraine to vacate, and Douglas for shots of 20th Century-Fox's "A Letter to Three Wives."

Larraine's friends who knew her when she was Larraine Johnston of Long Beach, Cal.—are wondering what's come over the gal . . .

ALAN AND SHIRTS
Alan Ladd tired of those striped-to-the-waist roles, and asked Paramount for a respite—so what does he do but end up in "The Great Gatsby," with 300 shirts to his name?

Ladd sinks his teeth instead of his fists into the characterization of Gatsby. Most of us read it in the flaming 20's.

Ironically, Ladd—who is a great swimmer—dies in his swimming pool in the role. But he doesn't drown—he gets shot.

CLAUDETTE WORRIES
Fred MacMurray, who is supposed to be somewhat shy with reporters, and Claudette Colbert (ditto) began work on their seventh movie together this week. It's "Family Honeymoon" at Universal. The shy Miss Colbert wistfully wondered the other day why it was that when she walked down the studio streets it's always "Hello Miss Colbert!" while Dottie Lamour Betty Hutton and others are patted on the back affectionately with "Hi, Honey."

That's easy . . .

Yes It's A Wonderful H & W Strapless Bra

$2.50

H & W really proved to us that the bust could be correctly supported... without any metal contrivance at all! The sewed-in, efficient, feather-weight support used here is the real answer. This is indeed a strapless bra that molds and upholds the bust, without yielding. White and Black. Sizes 32 to 38.

Around Hollywood

By RUTH BRIGHAM
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, June 12.—You can believe those reports you hear about Lilli Palmer and Rex Harrison getting ready for the break despite vehement denials by the pair. How come? For one thing, a certain fan magazine looked into the situation and decided to put off a love-dovey story of the couple. They don't want another Susan Peters-Richard Quine repeat. And for another thing, Miss Palmer and Harrison have repeatedly refused to be photographed a deux at home.

LARRAINE TEMPERMENTAL. Shooting on one of the most tension-heavy movies to come out of Hollywood in a long time—"My Dear Secretary"—ended Wednesday on a note of tension. Larraine Day was temperamental up to the last, giving the studio a deadline of 1:30 P. M. Wednesday to complete still shots, despite the fact that one of the leads had an interview at one o'clock that day.

But good-natured Kirk Douglas laughed it off, rushed back to the studio, and made a date with Larraine to watch the Dodgers perform in New York at the first free moment.

Both stars left Hollywood Wednesday night for the big city—Larraine to vacate, and Douglas for shots of 20th Century-Fox's "A Letter to Three Wives."

Larraine's friends who knew her when she was Larraine Johnston of Long Beach, Cal.—are wondering what's come over the gal...

ALAN AND SHIRTS

Alan Ladd lived of those striped-to-the-waist roles, and asked Paramount for a respite—so what does he do but end up in "The Great Gatsby," with 300 shirts to his name?

Ladd sinks his teeth instead of his fists into the characterization of Gatsby. Most of us read it in the flaming 20's.

CLAUDETTE WORRIES

Fred MacMurray, who is supposed to be somewhat shy with reporters, and Claudette Colbert (ditto) began work on their seventh movie together this week. It's "Family Honeymoon" at Universal. The shy Miss Colbert wistfully wondered the other day why it was that when she walked down the studio streets it's always "Hello Miss Colbert," while Dottie Lamour, Betty Hutton and others are patted on the back affectionately with "Hi, Honey."
